Thanks to Miss Verda Duke for a delicious dinner which was very greatly enjoyed by the editor. Such kindness from so sweet a little lady is very highly appreciated.

Mrs. Mary M. Stedman Wilson's milk vicinity is quite sick with some kind of throat trouble. Dr. H. E. Bond is attending her, and thinks she will recover, but thinks her seriously ill.

It is now certain that not more than a half crop of tobacco will be planted in this county on account of the scarcity of plants. Numbers of farmers have planted their tobacco ground in corn.

Griffin & Bro. bought a new last week from William Hunter, for $140. It was in good condition, about fifteen hands high and well broke. They also bought a smaller one from John C. Riley at a good price. They are paying good figures for good mules.

The school at Centerville, taught by Miss Albert Murray, closed last Friday. The school was successful, and we hear the lady professed very highly as a teacher by her late patrons. She will spend vacation at her home near Pleasant Ridge.

Thousands of ladies have found sudden relief from all their woes by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great remedy for diseases peculiar to females. Send for Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, 233 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass., for pamphlets.

Chapman Crow has on hand, and is manufacturing a large stock of saddles, bridles, harness and everything kept by first class saddlers. Everything is sold at the very lowest price consistent with the quality of work done. Call and get prices before going to any other shop.

Two drunks and a citizen will pay for the Hartford and after-the-fact. We don't mean to say that we want the drunks and we don't smoke, but we want the money that you might spend in that way or some other, for which we propose to give you more than your money's worth.

On Thursday night of last week a Mormon elder passed at Stewartsville, and after the sermon a Mr. Taylor arose and replied to the saint. Quite a lively debate ensued in which the companion of "oldness to the Lord" was considerably worsted. The Mormon community at Hartsfield is still flourishing and new converts are being made rapidly.

We would advise those of our readers who are log men or who have timber to sell, to see or hear from Messrs. Herman & Co., of Evansville, Indiana, before they dispose of their logs or timber; they pay good prices and we hear them spoken of as being thoroughly reliable buyers. Their address is Eleventh Avenue and Vermont St., Evansville, Indiana.

Mr. H. T. Thornton, of Belleville died at that place last week at the age of eighty-four years. He was taken suddenly ill and died in about three hours. He was a member of the Baptist church and was a highly esteemed citizen. He left a wife and eleven children and a host of friends. His remains were buried at Owensboro.

R. P. Rowe at the New Store brought on a very large stock of furniture early in the spring, which he has sold out almost entirely. Within the past few days he has received a larger stock than ever which he is determined to sell in even a shorter time than before. To this he has made a very low price, and he will certainly do. Call at the New Store.

It pains me at all times very greatly to see a shadow in the path of any, and especially of the young, but we cannot but forever reminding the boys, who have been captivated by our Hartford girls, that the time for separation draws rapidly near. Commencement will begin June 30th. The boys are invited to attend our banquet regularly at 8 P. M. for a season of tears and regrets. Kindly sympathize extended to all who come.

The neighborhood of Bethel Valley church, in this county, seems to be infested with sneak thieves. Some time since one of the tribe went into Jack Wright's barn and stole six bushels of wheat, and the lack of the thief. Later, Luther Anderson's neat house was broken into, and about sixty pounds of meat appropriated. The sneaky crooks are getting to be so frequent as to be quite annoying to the citizens who are honest, and something should be done to put a stop to it.

Our Oliver Chilled Plow continues to win golden words of praise from our best farmers, and all who use them are unanimous in declaring that they can never be induced to use any other, that the Oliver Chilled is perfection itself. The plow is made on scientific principles, and of the best materials, and is sold at the lowest possible price. Z. Wayne Griffin & Co., Hartford, Ky., are agents for the Oliver Plow in Ohio county.

When you come to Hartford call at the drug store of Messrs. Griffin & Bro. and ask them to show you our $50 gold watch, the $25 silver watch and the silver center to be given away at the Hartford distribution. Next, go to Anderson's Hazzard and look at the lady's gold watch worth $75; then go to Rowe's New Store and see the magnificent gold chain worth $95; then look at Ford's drug store and see the silver plated pearl handled table knives worth $25; then to Mrs. Bridges' grocery store and see the lady's celestial set worth $75; then to Mr. Tracy's bank and ask just like our lady to come to have, and lastly, come to the Hartford office and see our fine violin worth $35, and leave your name and $1.50 which pays for the paper for a year and gives you a ticket in the drawing which is soon to take place. Besides the list of articles given above we will have one or two sewing machines, a lot of splendid books including Webster's 11th edition Dictionary, fine table and pocket cutlery, and many other useful, beautiful and valuable articles to be given away to subscribers. We have so many things that it will be hard to stand where the lightning will not strike you in some way and even if it does not you will be better off anyway, as you will get a $2.00 paper for $1.50 and a valuable premium book in the bargain.

Every person purchasing a White Sewing Machine at Anderson's Hazzard between now and the HERALD drawing, will receive a copy of the HERALD for one year and a ticket in the HERALD drawing free. So for twenty-five or thirty dollars you will get the best sewing machine in the market and a good chance for a big gold watch, or some other valuable article in the HERALD gift distribution.

SOMETHING WRONG. The Grand Jury ordered to investigate Hartford College. The Result.

For some time our citizens have had a vague suspicion regarding the manner in which the College at this place has been conducted, and although it was but a suspicion, subsequent developments have proved that it was well grounded. A hint of the matter reaching the ears of Prof. Alexander, President of the institution, he at once commenced an investigation, and addressed the following note to the Grand Jury which was then in session.

HARTFORD COLLEGE, May 25th, 1882. GENTLEMEN:—You honorable body are respectfully invited to visit Hartford College this afternoon at 1 o'clock, and either then or at a later convenient time to yourselves, for the purpose of witnessing the exercises in the different departments. Hoping this will meet your hearty approval, I am very truly,

W. ALEXANDER, President. The Grand Jury then went to the College in a body, and after a thorough investigation returned the following indictment:

We, the undersigned members of the Ohio county Grand Jury, pursuant to a kind invitation of the Principal, make a visit to Hartford College on Thursday, May 25th, and desire to put on record our high appreciation of the manner in which that institution is conducted, and the pleasure we derived from our visit.

The course of instruction is both thorough and comprehensive, adapted to which is every necessary facility to individual comfort during school hours, but most of all to be admired, is the pleasant and agreeable manner which characterizes the intercourse of teachers and pupils in every department of the institution.

We beg to return to Prof. Alexander and to his entire corps of accomplished teachers and to the many bright faced pupils, our hearty thanks for their kind reception of us, and we cheerfully commend the College as a home institution in every way worthy of the confidence and patronage of Ohio and adjoining counties.

Respectfully, Henry Whiteley, Foreman; C. H. Lanning, Thomas Phillips; George W. Stedman, Maryland; Jesse N. Hudson; E. G. Bender; John Barnes; John I. Felt; H. E. Hender; H. Brown; J. H. Hender; W. H. Hudson; C. B. Hender; R. E. Richardson; Jas. F. Carson.

The suspicion that we referred to is one that has been held by every one who has an opportunity of knowing anything about the management of the College, and is this that it is conducted in the most excellent manner and is altogether an institution to be proud of.

Our Drawing. An impression seems to exist that our drawing will not take place until we have secured two thousand five hundred subscribers, but such is not the case. It will occur as soon as we can possibly get ready for it. If we do not have another name, we should like to have the $2.00 and hope to get them, but the drawing will come off all the same without them, and that at an early date.

Fine Stock. Last week Hon. Jesse S. Williams, of Ohio county, Esq., paid Messrs. Griffin & Bro. a visit, and selected from their nice little herd of Short-horns two beautiful red bull calves, a red yearling heifer and the new cow "Mabel Bell." He selected from their celebrated stock of Cowsbush three yearling rams, which for size, beauty of form and fleece, cannot be excelled in the State. The red bull calf was added to those purchased two eighteen months old bulls from Mr. J. V. Goodman, and eight yearling Short-horn rams from Mr. E. A. Hayes.

We are glad to hear of my improvement in stock by the farmers of Ohio county, and we feel especially disposed to compliment Mr. Williams on his enterprise in making such a purchase of blooded animals. It has long been a source of wonder to us why the farmers of this county do not raise better and finer stock as it costs no more, in fact less to raise a good animal than to raise a poor one and the profit is so much greater.

Every person purchasing a White Sewing Machine at Anderson's Hazzard between now and the HERALD drawing, will receive a copy of the HERALD for one year and a ticket in the HERALD drawing free. So for twenty-five or thirty dollars you will get the best sewing machine in the market and a good chance for a big gold watch, or some other valuable article in the HERALD gift distribution.
